Complex Farm Bill Passed By Senate After Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed Friday a complex and controversial farm bill carrying many of the stiff production controls and penalties asked by President Kennedy.

Passage came after a week of sharp debate. A nearly solid line-up of Democrats rebuffed all major efforts to revise the bill in the direction of less stringent controls.

The measure now goes to the House where a similar bill is already awaiting floor action.

Most important features of the Senate bill are proposed new controls for Secretary of Agriculture

Orville L. Freeman over planting and marketing of wheat and of corn and other livestock feed grains.

Government price support programs for these grains have piled up some $5 billion worth of surpluses among the more than $7½ billion of farm commodities now in government hands.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who was Senate floor manager for the bill, estimated that the annual bill of about $2 billion for storing and handling these grains could be cut sharply if farmers accept the new programs.

The new controls would come into effect only if farmers give a two-thirds vote of approval in later referendum.

Senate opponents of the wheat and corn controls insisted farmers will reject them. If they do, the price supports will drop sharply and the secretary may sell off large stocks of the government-held surpluses.

Missing from the Senate bill is an administration request for a new milk and dairy control and support proposal. Both the Senate Agriculture Committee and Senate turned down efforts to include this.

A last-minute effort to get in a new dairy program was defeated 70 to 13.

War Propaganda Proposal Submitted

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union joined the United States Friday in a proposal against war propaganda which condemns the doctrine that war is inevitable.

The draft proposal was the first significant East-West agreement reached at the 10-week world disarmament conference.

It was submitted to the conference jointly by U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin.

All 17 delegations expressed their approval. Adoption of the draft by a plenary session of the conference—probably next week—is a mere formality. It is almost certain to be approved by the U.N. General Assembly later this year.

The declaration solemnly condemned "appeals for war and for the settlement of disputes between states by the use of force, and also statements to the effect that war is necessary or inevitable."

But it did not require signatory states to make war propaganda a criminal offense, as Zorin had proposed.

Dean objected that the U.S. government had no power to impose penal limitations on the freedom of speech and freedom of the press.

800 Troops Landed In Hollandia

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—A Dutch transport brought 800 fresh troops to this island Friday to support units now fighting Indonesian paratroopers in the struggle for possession of West New Guinea.

The transport Zuiderkruis put some of the reinforcements ashore here and will take the remainder to other areas where invasion threats. The transport transited the Panama Canal. Soldiers aboard said they had to change to civilian clothes during that passage.

Reports from Kaimana, on the westernmost part of the island, said Dutch troops and planes had opened an attack to clean up 40 Indonesian paratroopers dropped May 12. The Indonesians were reported nearby encircled in the jungles north of Kaimana.

Efforts to settle the struggle for Netherlands New Guinea—which Indonesia claims and wants—by diplomacy seemed to have run up against a blank wall. U.N. Acting Secretary-General U. Thant's appeal to both sides to resume negotiations got nowhere. Indonesia and the Netherlands held fast to positions each side calls unacceptable.

Fatigue Given As Possible Reason For Carpenter's Off Target Landing

Red Ships Watch U.S. Nuclear Tests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of Soviet snooper ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, is on station at the very edge of the U.S. nuclear test area in the Pacific, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Able to glean technological intelligence on almost every type of nuclear test, including extremely high-altitude blasts, the three ships are about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the zone around Christmas Island. The United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger.

The Soviet ships presumably are within their legal rights, and would be even if they chose to move into the zone. Indeed, the announcement by a Pentagon spokesman said they had traveled through another zone, to the northwest around Johnston Island, in reaching their present position.

The ships have been warned by a U.S. destroyer to stay clear of the prescribed danger area, but ignored the warning. The spokesman said that in 1958, the Soviet Union complained that one of her research ships had suffered fallout from U.S. tests but that this time the Soviets did not seem concerned about maneuvering close to the danger zone.

The description of the ships and their capabilities as given by the Pentagon left no uncertainty about their mission.

They are obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission, the spokesman said.

The lead ship is reported to be the 3,600-ton research ship Shokalskiy. Among other things, this ship can launch rockets to obtain data of high atmospheric nuclear explosions—like those expected to be included later in the current U.S. test series.

From its present close-up position, the Pentagon said, the Shokalskiy also can obtain samplings from which to make chemical analysis indicating bomb design, yield and other effects. Electro-magnetic equipment can provide the time and approximate location of explosions.

The two smaller ships in the spy fleet are converted trawlers, with large arrays of electronic equipment.

Keeping the ships under constant surveillance is about all that the U.S. patrolling force can do. The most recent series of Soviet nuclear tests was conducted last fall on the island of Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic Ocean north of the Soviet mainland.

This country, on the basis of official statements, seems to have obtained considerable technical information about those tests. How this might have been obtained has not been disclosed, but one possibility is that some data might have been acquired by U.S. nuclear-powered submarines operating in the area.

Debriefing Goes On At Grand Turk Base

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—While astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter discussed his orbital space flight with experts on Grand Turk Island, a report indicated Friday that he was a very tired pilot and possibly confused on his third pass around the globe.

On Grand Turk, in the British West Indies, Carpenter, 37, showed no sign Friday that he had been adversely affected by the journey three times around the world and his long wait for recovery in a life raft.

Left Capsule
He left the capsule and got into his one-man raft to await recovery after his Aurora 7 spacecraft had overshot its intended landing point in the Atlantic Ocean by 250 miles.

The Navy lieutenant commander talked with newsmen Friday and apologized that his flight back to earth was "a real cliff-hanger."

"No one knew where I was, and I didn't either," commented Carpenter, looking relaxed and healthy. Medical men pronounced him in excellent shape.

But he apparently had trouble during his third orbit Thursday, according to a postflight debriefing held Thursday night on a radio hookup among the 17 tracking stations of the Mercury network.

The report on the session became available to the Associated Press Friday, Kaula, Hawaii, station reported Carpenter had sounded tired and his voice weak when he passed overhead on the third orbit.

Graphic Account
Kaula provided this graphic account: "He was quite concerned about his capsule attitude and, therefore, on several occasions, when capcom (capsule communicator) tried to get him on his retroscope, and he started doing something else. There was some confusion whether he understood what the order was."

"We had the impression that he was very confused about what was going on. But it was very difficult to assess whether he was confused or preoccupied."

"He certainly was a different man on this pass than on the preceding ones."

The station at Woomera, Australia, injected that "we also feel the astronaut was acting somewhat tired on the last pass," and it noted that his voice was weak.

Joined Conversation
The Bermuda station joined the conversation and said that earlier in the third orbit it had noted a drop in oxygen pressure and wondered if the emergency system shouldn't have been used. An unidentified voice broke in and commented: "You know how we feel about the emergency rate, so I won't say anything more about it."

The medical expert who monitored Carpenter's flight, asked to comment about the debriefing, said Friday the astronaut obviously tired during the strenuous ride but performed his tasks "in an appropriate manner."

Dr. Stanley T. White, chief of National Aeronautics and Space Administration's life systems division, said Carpenter had trouble with some of his medical sensors, but White did not believe the pilot became confused during flight. His personal theory was that trackers thought he was confused because he was too busy at times to make requested responses.

Oxygen OK
White said also that oxygen pressure and supply throughout the flight were satisfactory—that there was no fear Carpenter might run short of oxygen or have become groggy for lack of it.

The network debriefing raised the possibility that Carpenter's condition may have contributed to the capsule being 8 to 10 degrees off the desired attitude when the retro or reverse rockets were fired to bring his capsule out of orbit.

The off-angle produced a shallower re-entry path and the resulting target overshoot. The Mercury Control Center reported the reverse rockets fired four or five seconds later than planned and added the reason for this must await detailed study of data and discussion with Carpenter.

High blood pressure, pulse and body temperature readings were other medical concerns during the flight. A flight surgeon at the control center reported that "during all the flight we noted a wide variance in blood pressure readings. The last reading we had was 210 over 60 and this is too high."

Other Points
Among other points made by the network discussion:

1. A 15-second radio signal was received from medical sensors in the capsule after it had passed through the critical re-entry phase. The re-entry had cut off all communications, but the brief signal afterward told trackers the capsule had not burned up on re-entry. Receipt of the signal was not announced at the time, and the world was left hanging for some time as to whether the spacecraft had made it through the heat barrier.

2. Too rapid consumption of hydrogen peroxide fuel may have been caused by a faulty gyroscope reference system. The gyros help align the capsule with the horizon and keep it in the proper attitude. If they are not working, the fuel-consuming control systems must labor overtime to maintain attitude.

3. A faulty reading indicated trouble with a hydraulic system on the Atlas rocket during the liftoff phase.

Despite the troubles, Mercury officials summed up the mission as highly successful.

Mission Was Long
Said Walter C. Williams, Mercury operations director: "Even though the mission and its aftermath were long, we now have the answers to some of the questions that we did not have before."

When Carpenter completes his debriefing on Grand Turk he is expected to return to Cape Canaveral Sunday for a reunion with his family and a news conference to tell his story of the flight.

Bulletin International Control Of Space Urged By Rusk

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged today that space activities be brought under international regulation at once — lest space is turned into a military arena.

Rusk took a "somber look at what could happen" in a speech prepared for a Seattle World's Fair audience the day after U.S. astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter's successful orbiting of the earth.

Without international space supervision and peaceful cooperation, Rusk said man can put outer space to uses which might imperil civilization and even life on earth—or he can use it to benefit the human race.

"The frontiers of space might be pierced by huge nuclear-propelled dreadnaughts, armed with thermonuclear weapons."

"The moon might be turned into a military base."

"Ways might be found to cascade radioactive waves upon an enemy."

"Weather control might become a military weapon."

which the United States has proposed, and which has yet to win Communist acceptance, Rusk said.

Chinese Refugees Stopped From Entering Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—The mass flight of refugees across the Red Chinese border into teeming Hong Kong was abruptly choked off Friday, after three weeks. Red Chinese authorities apparently had taken positive action to stem the hungry tide that had overwhelmed British facilities in this crown colony and created a many-sided international problem.

British authorities announced that the flow of illegal immigrants across the colony's land frontier has markedly diminished and the situation is reverting to normal.

There was no immediate indication what Communist authorities had done to halt an exodus which had poured 60,000 refugees into Hong Kong since May 1. But there was speculation that Communist guards were using force in the hills beyond the border, out of sight of British patrols.

James D. Morrissey, Inc., Philadelphia, yesterday was the low bidder for construction of 4.5 miles of Route 209 between Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg.

Communist loudspeakers were silent after a full day of broadcasting exhortations to would-be refugees to return to their villages to help grow food.

Border sources said they heard no shooting and that all appeared to be orderly and quiet at the main crossing points which the refugees had been using.

Earlier this week, the British formally asked the Peiping government to take action to halt the mass flight which had embarrassed the London government.

British authorities had strung barbed wire barriers along the border, evoking comparisons with the wall erected in Berlin by the Communists to keep refugees from fleeing to the West.

Th British said Hong Kong, already overcrowded, just could not handle any more refugees. Fear of increased food shortages was cited by the Red Chinese refugees as a major reason for the exodus.

With the flow now dwindled to a trickle, the British announced they had withdrawn army units from patrol duty. They also said they closed the detention camp in which the refugees had been held until they could be shipped back across the border.

The British reference to the situation reverting to normal apparently meant border authorities expected refugees would continue to cross the border as they have done for years.

U. S. Forces Bolstered In Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The military buildup launched by the United States in Thailand turned into an Allied effort Friday with arrival of armed forces units from Britain and New Zealand.

A British Royal Air Force jet fighter squadron and a detachment of 50 New Zealand airborne troops flew in to join U.S. infantrymen and Marines in a show of strength to discourage any Communist thrusts from rebel-held areas of neighboring Laos.

The token forces augment a growing American force that now totals 1,500 combat infantrymen and 1,800 Marines. The American aim is to build the U.S. command to 5,000.

It was announced in Auckland that some parachute troops of the New Zealand special air service group will head for Thailand Saturday.

An Australian air force contingent also is expected.

Khru Strives To Prevent Conflagration In Laos

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a nationwide radio and television audience Friday the Soviet government "will strive to prevent a military conflagration in Laos."

He declared the U.S. decision to land American troops in Thailand had seriously hindered a settlement, but he made no belligerent threats as a result of President Kennedy's action.

The Soviet leader, addressing his countrymen after a trip to Bulgaria, pledged to keep his promise to support efforts to establish a neutral coalition government in Laos.

At the same time, however, he denounced pro-Western Premier Prince Boun Oum for allegedly frustrating the plan.

He said the Soviet government "did stick to and will stick to the positions it expressed at the Geneva conference on Laos and in my talks with President Kennedy on the future of Laos."

Britain and the United States have been urging the Soviet Union, through their ambassadors, to make a public statement on Laos. They began asking for such a statement after pro-Communist forces captured the key town of Nam Tan in their recent sweep across northwest Laos, a sweep which prompted the U.S. decision to send troops to neighboring

Question Pick-Up Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A retired Air Force general said Friday astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter floated in his life raft for more than an hour longer than necessary because the Navy ordered an Air Rescue Service seaplane not to land.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. Dubose of Winter Park, Fla., commander of the Air Rescue Service for six years prior to his retirement, said he had sent telegrams to Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland of Florida asking for an explanation of the Navy order.

Col. T. P. Tatum, vice commander of the Air Rescue Service with headquarters in Orlando, confirmed that the SA16 amphibian had been directed not to land. He said a significant period of time had elapsed before helicopters from the carrier Intrepid arrived to pick up the astronaut.

Gen. Dubose said an hour and 20 minutes had elapsed.

About 20 minutes after Carpenter was spotted floating in a life-raft near his Aurora 7 spacecraft Thursday at the thrilling end of his world orbital mission an Air Rescue Service plane arrived at the scene.

Two paramedics, Staff Sgt. Ray E. McClure of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Airman 1st Class John F. Heisch of Madison, Wis., parachuted into the water to aid the astronaut.

A few minutes later the Air Rescue SA16 amphibian arrived but did not land, even though the water was calm. The astronaut and the paramedics were picked up by a helicopter from the Intrepid.

Tests of Our Faith

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 6:14, 15; Luke 15:11-32; I John 1:1-2:17.

Two of the truest tests of our faith are our willingness to confess our sins and our measure of forgiveness. Both are illustrated in the parable of the prodigal son, in which the younger of two sons squanders his property in loose living.—Luke 5:11-13.

When he had nothing left, a famine came to the land in which he was living. He was reduced to being a swineherd, so near starvation himself that he realized his sins and determined to confess and beg a job as his father's servant.—Luke 5:14-19.

When his father saw him coming, he "was moved with compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him." He ordered his servants to bring forth fine clothes for him and to kill the fatted calf for a feast to celebrate his return.—Luke 5:20-24.

The older son, dutiful and self-righteous, resents the royal welcome given his wayward brother. The father explains that he has always been with him, but the brother "was dead, and is alive."—Luke 5:25-32.

American Baptist Opens National Headquarters

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—Two Episcopal clergymen, motoring along the Pennsylvania Turnpike through this verdant countryside, glanced out and saw a strange sight—a huge, sunny, ring-shaped edifice whose pillars beneath and lancet windows above gave it an ethereal, floating effect.

"Say," one of them said, "some church ought to build a building like that!"

The idea already was fact.

The gleaming loop of white stone and concrete is the new $8½-million national headquarters of American Baptists. Its dedication this Saturday marks a nostalgic transition in setting for the denomination's administration.

The big-city staff has gone rural. It also has moved back to its roots.

"We're in a more average community now," observed the Rev.

Dr. R. Dean Goodwin, director of the denomination's communication division, noting that most Baptist congregations are in small-town areas. "It's also more neighborly."

Across a road from the unusual structure, a herd of Black Angus grazed. Trees and little frame houses dot the terrain. "We have a closer relationship with people here," Dr. Goodwin said. "They are aware of us. Back in New York, no one noticed."

The shift to the tranquil atmosphere here from seven scattered, crowded offices in New York City and Philadelphia also brings the church's main center back to the area where Baptists first organized jointly in America more than 250 years ago.

It is the first time in the 1,600,000-member denomination's history that all of its score of agencies and boards have been united under one roof.

"I believe," Dr. Goodwin went on, "that our life here in a community more typical of America than we have known for some years will help us better understand our churches and our churches to understand us."

The new building itself is a great, graceful swirl of quartz-glittering stone and tiers of arched windows, mounted in front on an arcade of columns through which can be seen the grassy inner courtyard.

Methodists To Show Movie Sunday

MRS. Henry Weidaw, chairman of the commission on missions at the Canadian Methodist Church announced that the newest film of the Wycliffe Bible Translators will be released for its first showing in this area during the Sunday School service Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

The picture, "White Candor" is considered one of the most unique in missionary work with its setting in the jungles of Peru, South America and graphically portrays the development of indigenous Christianity among the Indian tribespeople of that region.

Wycliffe Bible Translators have an extensive work in South America and have already translated hundreds of heretofore unwritten languages into the Word of God so that the Gospel message can be carried by the people into the tribes and villages of the jungles.

Serviceman Confused On Candidates

AT LEAST on Monroe County serviceman seems to be a little confused about the candidates in the May 15 primary election, the official count of votes by county commissioners yesterday showed.

On top of which, he signed his name to the ballot, which automatically voided it.

The serviceman, who shall remain nameless here, voted for U. S. Rep. Francis E. Walter twice — once for re-nomination to the House of Representatives, for which Walter was a candidate and once for U. S. senator, a post Walter was not seeking.

Dr. Joseph A. Walsh, of Scranton, has been named trustee and councilor of the Third Council District of the Pennsylvania Medical Society comprised of Lackawanna, Wayne, Pike, Monroe, Carbon and Northampton Counties.

The PMS Board of Trustees selected Dr. Walsh to succeed the late Dr. Dudley P. Walker, of Bethlehem.

Dr. Walsh will serve in the position until the annual meeting of the PMS House of Delegates in Atlantic City, N.J., in October.

Yetter Picks Up 100 Votes In Recount

MONROE County board of election, Monroe County District Attorney James R. Marsh and members of the Smithfield Township election board opened two voting machines in the township yesterday to make the necessary corrections on the official ballot.

A mistake was noted when counting the official vote on Friday, May 18. The township board officers had made several mistakes in their addition, it was declared.

Upon opening the machines it was found that the figures on the "work sheet" were correct but in transposing them to the official ballot several figures were reversed and in one case 100 votes were dropped.

The votes dropped were for Van D. Yetter, Democratic candidate for the general assembly. The machine recorded 152 votes for Yetter, while official ballot noted 52.

The official ballot was corrected and each member of the board signed his or her name to the ballot signifying a correction was made and all members of the township board agreed the correction was right.

Employees Donate $4,194.20

EMPLOYEES of Wyckoff-Sears pledged the sum of $4,194.20 to the General Hospital Expansion fund, it was announced by the Wyckoff-Sears Employees Executive Board.

A tentative charity budget was adopted for the 1962 fiscal year. It shows American Red Cross, $230; March of Dimes, $100; Cancer Society, $115; Heart Fund, $95 and Community Chest, $1,236. The total charity budget was estimated at $1,776.

These contributions, both past and future, are contributions of the employees of Wyckoff-Sears and do not include those given by A.B. Wyckoff, Inc.

Monroe Relief Recipients Seen Not Getting Enough

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG — Are Monroe County relief recipients receiving what the State Department of Public Welfare considers "a decent and healthful standard of living?"

Not so — said the department yesterday in a report on "desirable standards" in counties throughout the state.

For example, a Monroe County family of four consisting of two adults and two children, at the very maximum allowance currently permitted by DPW may receive a top sum of $160.40 per month — which compares with the actual statewide average maximum of $161.20.

Some idea of how the current Monroe County maximum allowance stacks up with the "decent and healthful standard" recommended by the department (but unable to pay because of lack of funds) is seen from the fact that the department recommendation for Monroe County for a family of four (paying what the department terms "approximate maximum" rent) is $255.30 a month, as opposed to the actual maximum allowance for the county of $160.40.

Breakdown For a family of four in the county the "allowance" picture breaks down something like this: fuel and utilities, $16.40; shelter, $28; food, clothing and incidentals, $116.

On the other hand, according to the department, actual cost for fuel and utilities in the county for a family of four on relief rounds out to an average of $21.70 a month. As for shelter (rent), while the maximum allowance for this in Monroe County is $28, the actual average cost being paid by recipients for "standard" facilities in the county is listed by the department as $36 a month. The approximate maximum being paid by relief recipients in the county for "standard" shelter averages $57.

One Tie In Primary Election

THE only tie for a political office in Monroe County was in Southern Stroud Township. As the election board counted primary returns yesterday at the courthouse.

Don Albert and Ralph Mansfield each received two write-in votes for Republican committeeman. Both men will be notified to appear in the Monroe County commissioners office to draw for the office.

The official count also showed that William R. Thomas received nine write-in votes to defeat Robert C. Shaw, who received seven write-ins, for Republican committeeman in the second ward of Stroudsburg.

Area CD Aides Complete 10-Hour Instrument Course

THE first of two classes completed a Monroe County Civil Defense "Radiological Instrument Operations" 10-hour course Thursday night at CD headquarters in the Court House, Stroudsburg. They will receive radiological monitoring kits.

In order that all areas within the county would have radiological monitoring service, local Civil Defense directors of every political subdivision was notified to submit two names, which would make up one team, to be trained as monitors.

In accordance with the State program which is to provide enough fallout protection to take care of all people of the state, with trained personnel the political subdivisions are eligible to receive a monitoring kit which includes a Geiger counter for measuring radioactivity in food, water and soil; two survey meters for measuring the intensity of fallout in the area; two gas masks to be used in the event of chemical warfare, and two dosimeters that are carried on the person to measure the degree of radioactive materials from day to day.

Dosimeters are the size of fountain pens and can be carried in the breast pocket of a coat. All equipment is transistorized and operates by ordinary flashlight batteries.

The subdivision and personnel trained and received kits in the first monitoring course were Tunkhannock Twp; Dixon Miller and Richard Brode; Delaware Water Gap, Henry J. LaBar and John R. Wilson; Mount Pocono, Stanley Radesky and Francis O. Boyle; Hamilton Township, Carl Dennis and Lloyd Williams; East Stroudsburg, Russell Kunkle and Harvey Miller; Stroud Township, Harold Lee and Ray Dunkleberger; Ross Township, Sherwood Shoemaker and Earl Budge; Tobyhanna Township, Robert Trout and Rudolph Smoker; and Pocono Township, O. R. Howell and Lewis Martinell.

Instructor in charge was Mrs.

Floyd Cyphers, Bartonville, certified Radiological instructor, Dr. W. Grady Moore, head of science department, East Stroudsburg State College and Atomic Energy Commission licensed, assisted.

In conjunction,

In conjunction, a "Fallout Plotting" course was held on the same nights. Recruiting the personnel was on the same principle so that all political subdivisions would have trained personnel.

The following were trained for Fallout Plotters: East Stroudsburg, James Albert and Andrew Sarg; Hamilton Township, Charles Baines, Jr., and Edward Hage; Mount Pocono, Janet E. Possinger and Charles Mathews; Ross Township, Dale Greenmeyer and Carl Trach and Stroud Township, Roy Lesoine and Joe Jamulis.

James W. Finlayson, Stroudsburg, County CD Fallout Plotting Division Chief and Tobyhanna Signal Depot CBR Computer, was instructor in charge of the "Fallout Plotting" course with Grant L. Bartholomew, Stroudsburg, science teacher of the East Stroudsburg High School, assisting.

Teams Assigned

Local Civil Defense Directors have assigned the teams station locations for emergency operation within their respective areas.

The two classes trained covered only one-half of the county's political subdivisions. On June 7 another class will start "Radiological Instrument Operations" and "Fallout Plotting." Marvin E. Abel, County Civil Defense Director, urges the local Civil Defense Directors to submit two names for each course on June 7 which is the second and last class, which will qualify them to receive the monitoring instrument kit in accordance with the state regulations. Submit the registration forms in to the county office by June 1.

An Amazed Senator

What does it take to "amaze" Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.)? Why that anyone who believes in a balanced Federal budget would oppose the Administration's tax bill.

It is true that, as the Senator laments, many people oppose the bill for many valid reasons. And not the least of these is that it would collect hundreds of millions of dollars each year in taxes from people who don't owe it.

This would be done by deducting 20% from interest and dividend payments. Those who don't owe it, or don't owe that much would have to pester Uncle Sam to get their property back.

Balancing the budget, is important, but injustices to citizens isn't really essential to balancing it.

The Senator, and his fellow spenders, could do it nicely by refusing to vote for huge new Federal programs. They could do it by refusing to enlarge the Federal payroll, or give the conventional election-year raise to Federal employees.

There are many ways to balance the budget without simply going to the taxpayers for more money.

And a plan that collects from those who owe right along with those who don't is a sort of Federal highway robbery.

The AMA Versus Mr. Kennedy

It is said that the American people sympathize with the "underdog." The issue of hospital care for the aged should not be decided on the basis of political sympathies but on the basis of intelligent sympathy for the elderly people who need financial help with their hospital bills.

The American Medical Association has tried to place before Americans an analysis of this question from the point of view of the men whose professional responsibility it is to minister to health needs at all ages. Their organization is thought of as having great resources. Yet these are puny compared with the public and private funds and the communications facilities available to the government officials who have committed themselves to passage of the King-Anderson bill.

This was illustrated Monday night when Dr. Edward R. Annis spoke for the AMA from Madison Square Garden in New York City. He spoke to a hall of empty seats which the night before had been filled by the National Council of Senior Citizens with organizational and publicity aid from a wing of the White House itself. His talk was carried on one nationwide network at a high cost for paid time whereas the speech of President Kennedy the night before had been carried on three networks as a public service.

The way the advantages are stacked, Americans will have to listen closely if they are to get both sides of this debate. But it will be worth their while to do so. For cogent points are being made by such speakers as Dr. Annis and Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president.

The Kennedy administration has no monopoly of concern for the aged. What it is trying to sell is only one method of meeting an important need—a need which is already being met in generous and increasing measure by voluntary rather than compulsory methods, by pinpoint service rather than wasteful blanket coverage.

The AMA does not ask sympathy but it does deserve attention when it warns Americans against taking a long first step down the road to socialized medicine. —Christian Science Monitor

Energetic Vivien

Miss Vivien Kellems is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in the politically confused state of Connecticut. She offers herself to succeed Senator Prescott Bush, who is retiring at the end of his present term.

Vivien Kellems is a vivacious business woman who has done remarkably well for herself. She gained national fame by refusing to collect the withholding tax, unless she was paid to do it by the government. Her argument was a good New England one, that the laborer is worthy of his hire and that as she was not hired to be a tax-collector, she would not be one. She had a whale of a time with the Treasury which was not prepared for Miss Kellems' intelligence or experience.

She recently sold her business. After 35 years of experience, she is convinced that the small businessman, in this country, faces extinction not only because of high taxes but also because of the expensive method of preparing for taxes. This also affects the self-employed. The burden of satisfying the tax-collector is beyond the ability of many to pay.

It is from the small businessman and the self-employed that some of the best ideas in industry come. The only hope for such persons today is to try to build up a sufficient business so that it might be acquired either by a growth company or by one of the larger organizations. Acquisitions have become increasingly numerous, the small businessman and the self-employed accepting stock in the larger company and thus establishing an estate for his family after he dies.

It is not to be said that acquisitions are not beneficial to the individuals concerned. What is important is that smaller businesses go out of existence; that the self-employed become lost in great corporations; that initiative is often lost in corporate bureaucracy.

Miss Kellems, if nominated and elected to the Senate, would bring that body the experience of the small manufacturer whose business has gone through this process. She issued a statement: "Equally important with small business is the forgotten man; the thousands of decent, hard-working, self-respecting men and women who work every day and who find at the end of the week, a pay check from which 20% has already been deducted, and the remaining few dollars so shrunken in value that they will barely stretch to pay the rent, or the mortgage on the house, the installment on the car, clothes for the children and food for the family. Someone must go to Washington to speak for these people living in constant fear of disaster in this daily hand-to-mouth struggle."

The automobile industry, for instance, has now come close to having only two major companies. Even if one calls it four major companies, it means that the high cost of sales and the financing of new models has driven from business too large a number of companies. It is often suggested that General Motors provides the managerial personnel for its competitors; at any rate, that has happened to the Ford Company since its founder died.

In the manufacture of electrical supplies and electronics, the process is similar to what it was in the early days of the automobile. Large numbers of companies and individuals are entering this field and are doing remarkably well through initiative and inventiveness. But the cost of administration, including taxes, and the cost of finding a market for the products is becoming so costly that the joining of forces becomes inevitable.

Then come the lawyers who warn against the perils of the anti-trust and anti-cartel laws. To reduce costs, it is often necessary to form what in effect are holding companies, producing and marketing diverse and unrelated products to keep plants working all the time and to cut down the cost of administrative expenses per unit.

In European countries and Japan, this problem has been solved by encouraging the cartel, which is a government authorized trust. Often governments participate in such trusts which are regarded as national institutions. They are often encouraged by the Treasury of their country to dump goods in countries whose exchange is needed. Tax relief is offered under such circumstances. Often such companies are protected against imports.

There is room in the United States Senate for Miss Vivien Kellems whose specialized knowledge would be of great value.

Medicine Marches On

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
There's more knowledge in the tip of your little finger than you think! Mongolism, abnormal hearts and other inherited ailments show a tendency to certain types of fingerprints. When fingerprinted, men with schizophrenia (a dream-world mental illness) showed fewer central loops. Ridges tended to arch over, point up like a tent and break up into irregular dots.

Women Fatter

The 194-year-old Encyclopedia Britannica has finally printed information about the spreading waistline. Normal women have twice as much fat as men.

Extra pounds can make you an accident statistic. Weighed down, you can't jump out of the way in time. But even the scholarly Britannica can't suggest how to slim down and stay thin without effort!

Worried about radioactive strontium-90? Both cows and humans quickly eliminate 80 per cent. Cow's milk contains only one-fifth the original concentration.

Mom filters out four-fifths of this. And nursing babies receive only 12 percent of the original amount. Imagine — every mother a strontium-90 filter!

Flying this summer? Baby can go, too, if he's more than seven days old. What do six-day-olds lack?

Generally, any older who looks, feels and smells normal — and can walk up the steps of the ramp without trouble — is healthy enough to fly. Let your doctor clear you for take-off — if there's any question.

Now hear this! Aboard small craft, safety regulations prohibit smoking while refueling. Carry only approved stores labeled for marine use. Ventilate engine compartment and check for gas fumes before starting the motor.

Besides your regular fire extinguishers, carry buckets and rope. In case of emergency, they can turn the whole ocean into firewater!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of his newspaper.

Try and Stop Me

A Wichita father sent his daughter, aged eight, to bed before giving a big shindig in his villa. The daughter, outraged, waited until the festivities were in full swing, then marched into the living room in her pajama top, delivered a note to her father, and without a word, marched out again.

The note read, "Dear Daddy: I hate you. Love, Nell."

A champion heavy weight wrestler went with a pal to a lively fair in a country town. After a dozen rounds of exhilarating liquids they started for home, forgetting that in one field on their route a vicious bull was loose.

The bull snorted and charged. The wrestler, undaunted, grabbed his horns and twisted them till the bull bellowed for help and fled across the field. "Too bad I took those last six drinks," sighed the wrestler to his friend when they got home, "or I sure would have gotten that fresh palooka off his bicycle."

"I propose," said the Oklahoma bookseller, "that we hold our next convention in Oompahsburg."

One of the small boys who popped up on an Art Linkletter television show recently wore a bright medal conspicuously on the lapel of his jacket. He explained that he had earned the medal by never missing one session of his Sunday School for three solid years.

"That's a wonderful record," approved Linkletter, "and I'll bet you know the Bible now better than any other 7-year-old in Los Angeles. Tell me, what's your favorite Bible story?"

Unhesitatingly, the small boy replied, "Humpty Dumpty."

Bill Dwyer, popular Stroudsburg police officer, winds up a fine career Tuesday with the local force. Bill will retire to a life of leisure.

Plans call for many trips and, of course, many hours telling stories like only a Dwyer can unfold.

Gene Coleman, the Internal Revenue specialist of Stroudsburg, is nearing the condition that made him famous on the basketball court for the Scranton University two decades ago.

Gene, a former star with the Tommies, says his youngsters help keep him running in to shape.

Of course, Mrs. Coleman, had something else to say in the matter.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, Easton Democrat, received three awards in the past week for his work in varying fields of congressional activity.

He was honored here by the World Council of Refugees for his work in the field of emigration and immigration.

At Bethlehem, he was the recipient of an award from the armed forces reserve units of the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton area for national defense efforts and for his part in obtaining an air recovery squadron for the area.

At Princeton, N.J., was honored by the Water Resources Association of Delaware River Basin for his part in getting congressional approval of the Delaware River Compact, joining the efforts of four states for development of the valley's water resources.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall conferred with several Pennsylvanians this week on some proposed dams for their state.

When the meeting broke up Udall made this parting remark to Maurice K. Goddard, Pennsylvania's long-time secretary of forests and waters:

"Maurice, if Gov. Lawrence ever gets tired of you up there, join us down here. We can use you."

Goddard has spent countless hours here on Flood Projects, etc.

Editor, The Daily Record:
On Wednesday, May 23, we attended the open meeting of the Policy and Personnel Committee of the Pocono Mountain School Board and the citizens. Frankly, we were shocked.

We saw people who call themselves good citizens make perfect fools out of themselves.

This meeting, which was supposed to enlighten the public, and at the same time give the public a chance to express their opinions, became nothing more than an attempt to crucify the members of the school-board and the administration. We think it is a shame when certain people, who are supposed to set examples for our younger generation, are reduced to arguing with emotions, rather than good logical thinking.

In view of the fact that we saw no logical argument presented for the changing of the proposed combined Baccalaureate-Commencement program, we believe that the program should not be changed.

We would also like to comment on the excellent behavior of all the members of the Policy and Personnel Committee and the administration. All of their arguments were logical and reflected the intelligence of these men.

We would like to apologize specifically to Mr. Battisto, senior English teacher, and Mr. Dennis, Problems of Democracy teacher, for the remarks displayed by the elders of our communities.

In conclusion, we would like to say that contrary to former misunderstandings and assumptions of a large portion of the group gathered at that meeting, the administration and supporters of the combined Commencement-Baccalaureate service have not in any way tried to eradicate the religious aspect and significance, but have maintained and augmented Christianity in the combining of the service, and not the deletion of it.

As members of the senior class, we stand adamantly on the existing proposal.

Thank you.

Enjoyed Picture Page

Editor, The Daily Record:
Your full-page of State Chorus pictures on page 7 of May 12 made a very pleasant uproar here in Reading. My wife, son and I all thank you for your staff's gracious treatment of Judy who will always remember Stroudsburg warmly. I would appreciate prints of the pictures and will send you a check for the costs if you would let me know how much.

Judy is the youngest of our family and is very talented musically but has always seen Mrs. Hasbrouck (a pianist) or her 18 months older brother or myself in the musical spotlight in Reading. Saturday, April 28, her brother, Alan, a clarinetist and a senior at Governor Mifflin High School had his picture taken for the Reading Eagle for winning the Sousa Award (after a total of sixteen such festivals). The next Saturday, my picture was in the Reading Eagle for a concert of chamber music at the Reading Museum and the third Saturday your full page! When I showed your page to the City Editor of the Daily Eagle, I thought his roar of laughter would blast the walls at the coincidence.

So — for Judy and all of us who love her — Thanks,
Sincerely,
Gerald L. Hasbrouck

Recommend Higher Fence

Editor, The Daily Record:
The Pocono - Paradise Gun Inc., of Pocono Twp, Monroe County wants to go on record as of being opposed to the erection of a 3-foot high fence we believe is to be placed along Interstate Highway 80 running through the Pocono Mts. for the purpose of keeping deer from entering upon the highway.

If this be the case many accidents may be caused by this procedure.

A barrier of this type will not serve its purpose and therefore for the benefit of all concerned we suggest an 8 or 10 foot high fence be erected.

We, the Pocono - Paradise Gun Club, would like all Gun Clubs, sportsmen's associations, or any interested persons to write to the following persons:
Gov. David Lawrence, Sen. Joseph Clark, Rep. Van D. Yetter, Cong. Francis E. Walter, Game Comm. Russell Mervine.

Sincerely yours,

About Town

Another quiet anecdote which didn't get into Ed Anthony's biography of Don Marquis, the originator of Archie and Mehitabel: One night at the bar of Keen's Chop House in New York, a drunk started picking on Don Marquis. Don stood it as long as he could and when the drunk grew combative Don said, "You seem to want to fight. Why don't you pick on the bartender?"

The drunk insisted he wanted to do battle with Don and invited him outside. Don put his glass down and said he'd agree if there could be kicking and gouging in the clinches. The drunk demurred, saying he'd never heard of such stipulations; he insisted on the Marquis of Queensberry rules.

"When you fight me," said the columnist, "you've got to agree to Don Marquis of Queensberry rules."

They serve one dish at a five-star French restaurant on Third Avenue that isn't on the menu because it takes four hours to prepare. It's called Galantine of Duckling. "Why does it take so long to cook?" a customer rashly asked the French chef. "That's because," explained the chef suavely, "we give ze duck an even chance to escape."

A gloomy looking party forked over six bucks for a book called "Prayer Can Change Your Life." But was back for a cash refund an hour later. "My purchase was a terrible mistake," he explained. "I thought the title was 'Prayer Can Change Your WIFE.'"

On Church And State

Editor, The Daily Record

The unofficial report of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, USA, calls for a complete separation of church and state, to "disentangle our church and culture." Among other things, it says that churches should pay taxes to avoid an obligation to the state. Public property should not be used for religious displays. Bible reading and public prayers should not be part of public school programs, and public funds should not be used to enforce moral teachings of a particular religious group. Public schools should educate, not promulgate.

Perfunctory gestures in the direction of religion, like saluting the flag and oaths of allegiance, are not necessarily indicative of a people's piety, or of their patriotism. This is something measured by our daily devotion to service and to action, unobtrusively, not by outward forms and displays. For many of us, lip service is our main effort. This is not to call such things useless and hypocritical but to give them the status they deserve. More hypocritical are those who shut them altogether, who profess to lead good, secular lives.

"The ridiculous extreme is the life of the dead, Billy Sol. Excess. He was a lay preacher, made large contributions to his church, and attended faithfully. But he said faith is all, and did not let his 'religion' interfere with his life.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

We made it! To Friday I mean. There were times when it seemed highly unlikely. Counting up the dinners on Thursday night, for instance — the ones I know about there were two medical dinners, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Sororistimists and Eastern Poconos.

Next week with a holiday spung in the middle should be a breeze. The one big event of the week is the Golden Deeds dinner on Monday night, honoring Judge Fred W. Davis, who has always been a favorite of mine since our school days when we used to clutter up his living room with yakety girls.

I don't know about yakety girls, but the seventh graders at Stroud Union are getting pretty ambitious with their original musical comedy or whatever it is they're putting on on Tuesday night.

You know, maybe it's not such a bad idea having one holiday in the middle of the week. It's too short to do anything drastic so maybe we can spend it re-charging our batteries for the next week when all Laurel Blossom Time will bust loose, plus more and more weddings, plus graduations, plus pure panic on my part.

Once June starts, I have a feeling that I'm not even going to need a booster rocket to put me in orbit. Just one big loud "Boo!"

Miss Patricia Viechnicki Is Bride Of Arnold Deily

Miss Patricia L. Viechnicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki, of 173 Prospect St., East Stroudsburg, was married in a nuptial mass at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Church on May 19 at 11:30 a. m. to Arnold R. Deily, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred J. Deily, of Catasauqua.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza with a scoop neckline trimmed with peau d'ange lace embroidered with tiny seed pearls, short lace sleeves, and a basque bodice. Lace motifs decorated the skirt with broad panels of lace in back falling into the chapel length train. A Capulet cap of orange blossoms held her elbow length veil of silk illusion. Flower girl, Pamela Viechnicki, niece of the bride, wore a dress of white organza and lace over pink. Her headpiece was a crown of miniature pink roses and she carried a white basket of rose-petals to which was fastened a nosegay of miniature roses.

Enrichment Courses To Be Expanded This Summer By Stroud Union PTA

The Summer English Enrichment Course, offered for the first time last year under the auspices of the Stroud Union Parent-Teachers Assn., proved such a success both with the parents and student that it will again be offered for the present year for seventh and eighth graders. A workshop will be added for older students.

Applications for the English Enrichment courses have been sent home with the present seventh and eighth graders with the announcement of the faculty, its objectives and hours.

Also included in the objectives will be lessons in outlining and note taking and improvement of vocabulary.

Problems Of City Slums Studied By Village Church

Tannersville—Miss Harriet Sebring, a member of the staff of the local Day Care Center for Retarded Children for the past ten years and a former case worker in Philadelphia, was guest speaker at the May meeting of the United Lutheran Church Women at St. Paul's Church, Tannersville.

Miss Sebring, who worked mainly in the Negro district of Philadelphia, told of the big problems of the slums—chiefly poverty, neglect and the abuse of children by their own parents. She said that her prime task was to protect the children from cruelty, to help the children and to place them in foster homes, if necessary. The parents were given from six months to a year to mend their ways and get an opportunity to get their child back. This work was done, as much as possible, without the assistance of the police.

Slides, picturing the work of the local Day Care Center, from its inception up to the present time, were also shown.

The program topic was "New Trends in Social Ministry to Children and Youth," arranged by Mary Strunk.

Nita Morris was in charge of the offering presentation. Mrs. Morris urged members to send their offerings if they were unable to be present at meetings. Announcement was made that June is thank-offering month and members were reminded to bring their thank gift to that meeting along with the regular monthly offering.

After devotions the business session was held with Betty Rowe presiding. Marie Gravatt reported for the Christian Service Committee and a gift was voted to be sent to the Easton District.

A report was presented on the Countywide May Fellowship Day, by Annebelle Pechotka.

The president told of the Spring Rally recently held at St. Peter's Church, Easton, when 208 persons, representing 46 ULCW organizations in the district, attended. The total district membership, at the present time, is 1202. Five members from St. Paul's were delegates for the Tannersville ULCW.

Members were urged to save cancelled stamps and coupons. Membership chairman Mary Jean Learn reported 25 members and five guests present. Dorothea Schack has moved from the community and has withdrawn from St. Paul's ULCW.

June 26 was announced as the next meeting date. Marjorie Bessecker will be program leader for "You Are Christ-Called." Hostesses will be Edna Topfer, Sue Renner and Betty Woodling.

Refreshments were served in the social room by Marie Gravatt, Phyllis De Haven and Lydia Sebring.

Class Of '67 In Original Comedy

The class of 1967 at Stroud Union High School will present an original musical comedy, "Survival of the Wittiest" on Tuesday, May 29, in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m.

The comedy is the work of many seventh grade students who have written new words to fit Broadway songs, words which illustrate the everyday incidents in the life of a new-comer to the school.

They have included dancing, acting and special numbers under the direction of Mrs. Judy

Cox. The general public is invited. Tickets are being sold by all seventh graders. They plan to donate a gift to the school from the proceeds.

DAD'S GRADUATION

It wasn't Dad who burned the midnight oil . . . or crammed for exams . . . or struggled with term papers . . . or won a letter in baseball . . . or a prize in home economics.

Dad just wrote the checks . . . and the encouraging letters . . . and boasted to the office force about his "kids" in school.

But this is really Dad's graduation. For he planned this day many years ago. And all these years he has struggled to give his boy and girl the kind of an education he never had.

Something else he has given them—something he did have; a sound Christian faith, manifested in loyal devotion to his Church's worship and work.

Better than a diploma is Dad's reward today; the reverent, joyous certainty that, not only in their education, but equally in their spiritual development, he has recognized the needs of his children . . . and has seen them through.

Are you planning your children's future—every Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Turkey Growers Reminded

DONALD Reish, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said yesterday all turkey producer growers and contract producers should contact the offices to determine their eligibility to vote in the proposed national turkey marketing order.

The general voting on the order will run from June 18 to 22. Co-operators must file certifications before June 8.

Those eligible to vote include those who marketed more than 3,600 pounds — liveweight — of turkeys in 1961 and those who had a risk-of-loss contract in turkeys produced by a producer-grower.

If the order is approved by two-thirds growers would have two market supply-management measures available.

One, the quantity of turkeys would be limited to producer allotments. The other, would set aside quantities considered surplus for a period. These would be disposed of by the Industry Administrative Committee.

Only the second method could be used for 1962 should producers approve the turkey marketing order in the June referendum.

Hazards Of Being Carrier Boy

ADD to the hazards of being a Daily Record carrier boy the threat of being run over by deer.

That was what happened to Richard Serfass, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daulton W. Serfass, 118 Elk St., East Stroudsburg, as he delivered papers, assisted by his father, about 6:15 a.m. yesterday.

As he followed his route on S. Courtland St., two deer suddenly appeared, almost ran the boy down, went south on Courtland St., turned in at the old Catholic cemetery and disappeared.

Undaunted by his close call,

What is more than 300 years old but new as the next minute?

BIG BEN? THE DAILY NEWSPAPER? AN ABACUS?

ONE OF A SERIES
ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. Although its origin goes back to the early 17th Century, your newspaper is as modern as tomorrow. In recent years newspapers have invested over $700 million in new plants and equipment, and improvement is constantly going on. An automotive official said, "We can talk a lot about automation, but the newspaper press is probably the earliest and still one of the most remarkable examples of automation ever developed."

Dear Abby

Upright Indignation!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were invited to spend an evening at the home of a couple who recently moved to our neighborhood. It wasn't for dinner, just an evening to get better acquainted. When we arrived, this woman immediately flopped down into one of those contour chairs with her feet higher than her head. She stayed that way throughout our entire visit, saying how "relaxed" she was. I didn't enjoy trying to carry on a conversation with a woman who was practically standing on her head all evening. It annoyed me so much I told my husband I didn't care to see these people again. He says I am too critical. In your opinion, do you think this woman was a good hostess?

CRITICAL

DEAR CRITICAL: Unless your hostess was "relaxing" under doctor's orders, she should have entertained you in an upright position. I would say she was too prone to be hospitable.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of secretaries who wish to form a club. We plan to set aside one night a month to honor our bosses. We will have a cocktail hour, dinner and a program. The program will contain serious talk about our goals and aims. The object is to achieve a better understanding with our bosses as to what is expected of us, and him. Each member (married or single) invites her boss (married or single). Some of the girls question the propriety of this plan. We welcome your opinion.

THREE SECRETARIES

DEAR SECRETARIES: I cannot speak for all bosses, or their secretaries. But every respected "boss" that I know is neither drinking companion, dinner partner nor vailing wall to his secretary. A first-class secretary need only to get to work on time, put in an honest day's work and go home. Socializing with the boss, even collectively on "Bosses' Night," could become Bosses' Nightmare.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother who thinks more of her furniture than she does her grandchildren. After all, Abby, they are only babies and do not know the value of things, so you can't blame them for putting their feet on the furniture or wanting to play with her milk glass bric-a-brac. Don't you think she should save me the trouble of having to watch them every minute they are at her home and just put up all her good things until they are old enough to understand?

AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Children should be taught at home to keep their feet off the furniture and their hands off the bric-a-brac. Since you obviously didn't, you'll have to discipline them in your mother's home.

DEAR ABBY: I sent you three of my problems and you didn't answer any of them. Why do you claim you answer every letter when you don't?

OFF OF YOU

DEAR OFF: It isn't possible to answer every letter in MY COLUMN. Next time, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and you'll get a personal reply.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

For Abby's booklet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

THE BAR Mitzvah ceremony of Michael Katz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Katz, 1805 Laurel St., Stroudsburg.

It will take place this morning at 10 o'clock at Temple Israel.

The Sabbath services will be conducted by Rabbi Bernhard Presler who will officiate and deliver the charge to the Bar Mitzvah.

Last night Michael conducted the services and following the services the Katz's were hosts to the congregation at a reception in the vestry of the Temple.

Bar Mitzvah is one of the most significant points of a Jewish boy's life and is filled with tradition and meaning. On the 13th birthday when the boy is called to read from the scriptures he is actually affirming his loyalty to his people and to mankind.

Commentaries —on Sports Tony Cesare Sports Editor

Bangor Hunts For Grid Coach!

PERHAPS one of the reasons why Bangor High's athletic committee has "no one in mind" to replace David "Dakey" Pritchard who has resigned as football coach is because the ones they were considering got away. . . . Reliable sources say that the new grid mentor will come from outside the district. . . . Northampton High was one of the sources but some of Erdosy's assistants have taken other jobs. . . . Joe Gersencser has gone to Parkland and Lou Wolf is his assistant. . . . Gersencser and Wolf were teammates at Northampton in 1948. . . . Wolf was top scorer that year and is one of top five scorers of school.

Wolf is a graduate of ESSC as is James Oplinger, another Erdosy assistant.

Pritchard has submitted the resignation but it is subject to approval to school committee which meets June 13.

Dakey gave "health and personal reasons" for tendering his resignation. He will, however, stay on as athletic director and as an instructor.

ESSC To Play Ivy League Team

Speaking of East Stroudsburg State, the Warriors have lined up a top-flight Ivy League team for a scrimmage game on Sept. 22. . . . The game will be played away. . . . Word has it that coach Jack Gregory's eleven will practice at the school's campus Friday night (Sept. 21) and compete in full scrimmage the next day.

"Athletic Journal" one of the largest coaches magazines in the nation is carrying a byline story of coach Jack Gregory on "Developing A Linebacker." . . . The feature carries a biographical sketch of the author and mentions that ESSC is recognized as a top defensive unit.

Joe Heverin, captain for the Warriors, is in one photograph with the article although the players are not identified.

Hitting Stars For Warrior Nine

Today is Alumni Day at East Stroudsburg State. . . . And one of the highlights will be invasion of Wilkes College for a game with Coach George Ockershausen's nine. . . . ESSC is sporting a respectable 8 and 3 record.

Included is one victory over Wilkes a few weeks ago. . . . The Warriors lost two to conference champs West Chester and one to Kutztown. . . . Up until today, the team is hitting at a .302 average after 341 at bats and 103 hits. . . . Tom Rider, who was voted the outstanding baseball players tops all regulars with .459 average.

The Catawissa senior has 17 hits for 37 at bats. . . . Lou Paccholi of Easton, the other regular who has appeared in all 11 games is sporting a .317 average with 13 hits in 41 trips. . . . Other top batsmen are: Barry Wray .344 (10 games), Ron Hoyda .304 (10 games), and Tom Washburn .412 in nine games.

Ramblings On The Sports Circle

Teddy Price, Jr., 15, of Cresco, shot a hole-in-one at the front nine of the Buck Hill Falls course. . . . The Pocono Mt. High student used a No. 3 iron to achieve the ace on the 160-yard No. 7 hole. . . . He finished with a 3-over-par 38. . . . Price is believed to be one of the youngest players to collect an ace thus far this year.

Unexpected delays in track construction have ended all possibilities of harness racing with pari-mutuels in Pennsylvania this year. . . . The Washington County Trotting Assn., which had hoped to get under way this season, has informed the state commission that it will be unable to start until May or June of 1963. . . . Liberty Bell Park near Philadelphia, meanwhile, also plans to begin at that time.

Moravian College, which earlier in the season, had complained of losing a number of its players who were signed by major leagues, finished its season UNDEFEATED. . . . The Greyhounds, under coach Harvey Gillespie, posted their first undefeated season with a record of 13 wins, no losses, and two ties. . . . The Hounds lost one of its best pitchers, its two top catchers and five of its top hitters. . . . Simeon Blahut of Bangor, now with Fort Lauderdale of Florida State League (Class D) was one of the catchers.

Powerful Villanova Erases Yale Threat In IC4A Meet

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Two meet records were broken, one was tied and powerful Villanova came through with 10 qualifiers to erase an early threat by Yale Friday in the IC4A Track and Field Championships.

Gary Gubner, New York University's 255-pound sophomore, got off a toss of 62 feet, 14 inches to smash the shotput record of 57-94 set by Jim Fuchs of Yale back in 1950.

Gubner made it so emphatic that he broke the record in every one of his four qualifying throws. Second-place Billy Joe Villanova, the 1961 champion, also broke the mark and in the process almost became a member of the 60-foot club. His flip was 59-11 1/2.

Morgan State hustled to a 3 minutes, 11.6 seconds mark in the mile relay, erasing the 3:12 effort of Villanova two years ago. John Bethea, Bob Bagley, Hubert Brown and Lawson Smart carried the stick for Morgan State.

Frank Budd of Villanova, holder of the world record of 9.2, tied the meet record for the 100-yard dash, zipping to a 9.5 clocking against a 1.8 meter (about 4 miles per hour) wind. He also led the qualifiers in the 220-yard dash with 20.6.

"I wasn't trying to beat my record in the 100," said Budd. "But I am going after the 220 record (20 flat), which he tied two weeks ago tomorrow if the wind is not blowing against me too badly."

Yale had nine qualifiers, Morgan State eight and Fordham and New York University six each.

The "100-mile-an-hour" part of the name was a limiting factor when the society was founded in 1934 but anybody who finishes in the modern 500s has to do well over 130—maybe over 140 this year.

The club took in six new members at its annual meeting Friday night.

Chuck Stevenson of Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national champion, made it for the first time in the 1961 race after six starts. Eddie Sachs of Coppersburg, Pa., got in after five starts and Shorty Templeman of Seattle after four starts.

The other three raced into the club on their first appearance—Bobby Marshman, Pottstown, Pa., who finished seventh; Jack Brabham of Australia, ninth, and Norm Hall, Los Angeles, tenth.

Hall was badly injured in a qualification run crash May 13. Brabham, who races out of England, sent regrets that his Grand Prix schedule wouldn't let him make the trip.

Campbell, Regan Tie In Indy Golf With 11-Under

By JERRY LISKA

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A pair of 26-year-old pros, Joe Campbell and Dave Regan, shattered the meet's 36-hole record Friday in sharing the halfway lead with 11-under-par 131s in the "500" Festival Golf Tournament.

Regan, who has won only one tournament in his five pro seasons, overhauled Campbell, the first round co-leader, as he coaxed a 6-under-par 65 from the rain-soaked Speedway course.

Campbell, former Purdue golf and basketball star, who matched 63s Thursday with Bob Rosburg, saw his putter cool for a still respectable 68.

The old 36-hole Speedway mark of 132 was set by Jerry Barber in 1960.

A stroke behind Regan and Campbell, both former collegians, was Rosburg, who suffered from a heavy downpour which the later starting co-leaders missed.

Caught at the eighth hole by the cloudburst, Rosburg lost four strokes to par on the eighth, ninth and 10th holes, and needed a string of four successive birdies to close out a 69 round.

Two strokes off the pace were Billy Casper and George Bayer, both scoring 66s for 133. Bayer scored an eagle duce with a 75-foot wedge shot on the 10th.

Friday's play trimmed the field of 142 pros to the top 90 scorers. After Saturday's third round the field will be cut to 60.

One of the major casualties, failing to make the cutoff at 146, was Ken Venturi, whose 72 gave him 148.

Pete Ramos got his first win with the help of a quick relief job by Gary Bell in the ninth inning. Ramos left with a 2-1 count on Jim Piersall, the leadoff batter. Bell retired the side on seven pitches.

The Indians broke a scoreless tie in the sixth on Essegian's lead-off double and a single by Johnny Romano.

Essegian's blast barely carried over the fence in front of the Senators' bullpen to make it 2-0.

Danny O'Connell scored Washington's only run with his second homer in the eighth. It was the first run scored by the Senators this season for Claude Osteen, who lost for the fifth time in five starts. Osteen has pitched 25 1/2 innings.

Osteen gave up eight hits in eight innings but was aided by three double plays.

Ramos allowed only four hits in the eight innings he pitched.

Ramos walked only one and the only inning in which Washington advanced a base runner to second before O'Connell's homer was the second when Gene Woodling was safe on an error preceding Johnson's hit.

HIGH AND LOW—East Stroudsburg's Don Wescott goes high for the throw but to no avail as an unidentified Stroud Union man takes second safely. Stroud Union went on to take the "Battle of the Boroughs" contest 4-1 yesterday at loser's field. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Loney, Metzgar Pace S.U. To 4-1 Win Over E-Burg

WARREN Loney's pitching and Don Metzgar's hitting were the prime ingredients yesterday as Stroud Union defeated East Stroudsburg 4-1 in the baseball edition of the "Battle of the Boroughs."

Loney held the Cavaliers to only five hits while fanning nine and Metzgar belted out three hits — two of them doubles — to bat across three of the four runs.

However, five Cavalier errors did not help Don Wescott who ed third and was promptly sent home as Dave Pierson singled. Fred Frantz's grounder forced Dave Pierson at second but Billy Reese's relay throw to first was low and Frantz scooped on to second base on the error. Don Metzgar then doubled to right-center to score Frantz with the second run.

One in the third for Mounties came about as Glenn Bisbing lead off with a safety, stole second and rode home on Metzgar's single. Wescott was relieved at this point by Alden.

The Cavaliers got their only run in the fourth when Jack Vinyard, Jim Steele singled and Brian Francis blasted out a safety to tally Vinyard.

The Mounties picked up their last run in the fifth as Frantz walked to open the frame. He was out, however, at second on Bisbing's grounder. Bisbing stole second and raced home on Metzgar's second double of the contest.

The Daily Investor

By William A. Doyle

Q. Do Canadian mutual funds differ from those operated in this country? How do their commission charges compare to the "load" on U.S. funds? What's the tax picture? I have been told that the Canadian mutual funds experienced some difficulty in recent years. Have they put their house in order?

A. As far as U.S. residents are concerned, there are only 11 Canadian mutual funds whose shares can be purchased in this country. There are many more in Canada. But their shares have not been registered with the U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission for sale here.

The 11 include Canadian Fund (which is a U.S.-incorporated company and is operated the same as any mutual fund in this country) and Canadian-incorporated funds. These 10 are "non-resident-owned" and have picked up the nickname "NRO companies."

The NROs also operate basically the same as mutual funds anywhere. But, at the present time, there is one big difference — taxes.

Under the rules as they now stand, the NROs do not pay any income dividends or capital-gains distributions to their shareholders. So, the U.S. shareholder of an NRO fund does not pay U.S. taxes each year. His only U.S. tax obligation comes when and if he redeems his shares. Then, he is required to pay a capital-gains tax on any profit he realizes.

Meanwhile, the NRO fund has the choice of two Canadian tax treatments. It can pay a 15 percent tax on all net investment income, thereby relieving its shareholders of any further Canadian tax obligation. Or it can pay the regular Canadian corporate tax rate. But, if the latter choice is made, any shareholder of an NRO company who redeems his shares is subject to a 15 percent Canadian withholding tax on whatever portion of his proceeds represents "undistributed dividend income" of the fund.

If you think that's complicated, stay with me. Things are probably going to get worse. The Kennedy "tax bill" now before the U.S. Congress contains a proposal that would require a U.S. shareholder of a NRO fund to include in his taxable income his proportionate share of all the NRO fund's income and realized taxable gains each year.

In other words, the U.S. shareholder would lose whatever U.S. tax treatment he now has. And, if that Administration tax bill becomes law in its present form, shareholders of NRO funds would be clobbered for even bigger taxes than shareholders of U.S.-incorporated mutual funds.

That bill, by the way, is the one that would subject all investors and people who have money in savings accounts to a 20 percent withholding tax. Everyone who has a stake in our free-enterprise, capitalistic, system can hope and pray that the tax bill never passes Congress.

On the subject of "loads," Canadian Fund has a maximum commission of 7 1/2 percent. Three of the NRO funds — Loomis-Sayles Fund of Canada,

New York Capital Fund and Scudler Fund of Canada — are "no-load funds" and are sold without any commission charge.

UBS Fund of Canada has a six percent maximum commission charge. Investors Group Canadian Fund and Keystone International Fund have 7 1/2 percent maximum commission charges. United Funds of Canada has an eight percent maximum commission charge. And Axe-Templeton Growth Fund of Canada, Canada General Fund and Canadian International Growth Fund have 8 1/2 percent maximum commission charges.

Governor Cites Allentown's Pace

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Gov. Lawrence said Friday Allentown has been "an economic pacesetter because its leaders in industry and public office have never been afraid to break new ground or push off in new community directions."

Speaking at ceremonies opening the celebration of the city's bi-centennial, the governor noted the dedication of a new City Hall was being held in conjunction with the community's 200th anniversary.
